

MOORING LINES . . .

By Virginia Rapp, Editor

Have you ever thought about becoming a Potomac Volunteer? From ship maintenance, to staffing cruises, and all those who work behind the scenes in operations and administration, volunteers are the heart of the Potomac Association. Consider this a personal invitation to join us.

There is a wide range of opportunities – something for every skill and interest, particularly in Marketing, Public Relations, IT specialties, Student Educational Programs, special events and working on Potomac Currents. Whatever your background, all you need is a desire to be part of the Potomac’s exceptional staff. And, oh yes, there is the desire to have fun – and I guarantee you will!

I joined this group three years ago as a History Docent, and have never looked back. If you are wondering why, think about becoming a Potomac Volunteer. To get started, go to www.usspotomac.org and click on “Volunteer”. You’ll be glad you did, and I look forward to welcoming you to the team.
